- Associating Notes with Consult Orders

When writing a note for a consult, the note should be linked with the corresponding consult order, and the status of the order will change to Completed when the note is signed.

- Addend, Attest, or Cosign (update)

When working with residents or APPs, should you be adding notes, doing an attestation, or cosigning? See the tipsheet for help.

- CAM Orders (update)

When placing orders on discharge, providers should not place CAM (clinic administered medication) orders, as these are for medications given in an office or clinic.

- Provider Documentation Resources

Find provider documentation help and tips on the CHS Be-Epic website – Use the button at the top of your Epic window Provider Resources Be Epic - Provider Documentation Resources

- Dragon Medical One Essentials training

Join a small group, virtual fundamentals training, pertinent to your role to get the help you need with Dragon Medical One. Find a description of the different training style groups available - in the poster found on your Learning Home Dashboard – and self-register.

- Physician SmartUser

Improve your Epic skills and earn CME with the Epic Physician SmartUser classes. The classes are available for Physicians and Advanced Practice Providers.

Schedules and self-registration available at <https://efficiency.epic.com>

Detailed information for all the above can be found on your Learning Home Dashboard ~ in the “What’s New for Inpatient” section
